

Data Journalist

Love horses? Want to get paid to attend horse shows? We're looking for someone like you.

As a member of our global journalist network, you'll get to attend Jumping competitions in your area. While you're there, you'll report the live action back to us through our data collection software.

THE COMPANY

Prixview was founded by "horse people" who want to showcase the dynamic nature of Equestrian Jumping sport to broader audiences. That's why we've built the software and team to capture Jumping sport data in real-time and synthesize it into reliable insights & analytics. Next, we'll leverage our proprietary data and partnerships to create engaging fan experiences and be the first mover in bringing the global trend of fantasy & legal sports betting to Jumping.

THE JOB

This is an opportunity for exciting and fast-paced work in the equestrian space as an independent contractor. You will receive training in how to use Prixview software in order to provide the best analyses of the competition as possible, including:

- Entering pre-competition information (course plan, starting order)
- Logging faults, time and the other details of each round as they happen
- Providing post-round notes and competition reporting

THE PERKS

- Flexible working hours
- Travel stipend to competitions
- Show Passes to all competitions covered
- Part of the Prixview Journalist Network (regular events & partner discounts)

THE TERMS

- Independent contractor
- $30 per class on streaming
- $50 per class live onsite

If you have a passion for equestrian sport and want to join our Prixview team, please fill out the required information in our application form. You must be 18 or older to apply.
